

Connecticut
Landmarks

NEWS

Connecticut Landmarks

Main Office

255 Main Street 4th Floor

Hartford, CT 06106

(860) 247-8996

www.ctlandmarks.org

Date: September 24, 2009

Contact: Beverly York, Site Administrator, Nathan Hale Homestead
(860) 742-6917, hale@ctlandmarks.org
Rochelle Simon, Director of Communications & Marketing
(860) 247-8996 x.12, rochelle.simon@ctlandmarks.org

The Scariest Haunted Corn Maze Ever!

Coventry, CT –The Annual Haunted Corn Maze will open at the Nathan Hale Homestead on Friday, October 2nd and Saturday, October 3rd from 7 to 9 pm, for two spooky nights complete with ghosts, goblins and ghouls. This year's haunted maze promises to be scarier and more horrific than ever thanks to the Homestead's volunteer Junior Guide Corps. Admission is $8 per person, or $25 for families: 2 adults and an unlimited number of children. The maze is not recommended for very young children. Flashlights are suggested. Treats will be available for sale. The corn maze, minus the ghosts and goblins, is open during regular museum hours on Saturdays and Sundays from 11-4 through mid-October. Admission is $5 per person.

-More-

Connecticut Landmarks enlisted the help of local dairy farmer David Buscaglia to seed a full acre of the Hale property with animal-feed corn. The CTL maze-masters carefully plotted the course directly on the ground with spray paint. As the corn grew, seedlings in the pathways were pulled and kept clear, to create the elaborate maze.

The Nathan Hale Homestead is located at 2299 South Street in Coventry, CT 06238. The Homestead is open for regular tours on Saturday and Sunday from 11 am to 4 pm; Admission is $7 for adults; $6 for students, teachers and seniors; $4 for children age 6-18; children under 6 and CTL members are free. Families - 2 adults with children - are $15; groups of 10 or more are $5 per person. For school groups and special curriculum-based programming, please call Beverly York, Site Administrator, at 860.742.6917, or email, hale@ctlandmarks.org.

About the Nathan Hale Homestead

The Hale Homestead is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is the birthplace of Connecticut's State Hero, Nathan Hale. The house, built in 1776, belonged to Nathan Hale's parents and family, and is located on the only site he ever called home. Nathan was one of twelve children born to Richard and Elizabeth Hale.

Nathan Hale was a Yale-educated school teacher and was commissioned as a first lieutenant in the Continental Army in 1775. A year later he volunteered to go behind British lines on Long Island to gather military intelligence desperately needed by General George Washington, but the British captured Hale and, when they discovered he was a spy, hanged him. He was only 21. He is famous for his alleged last words, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1776 Hale's father, Deacon Richard Hale built the new home on the family homestead which has changed little since. It's situated on 17 acres, adjoining the 1500-acre Nathan Hale State Forest. Its furnishings include several Hale family possessions and other collections amassed by pioneer Connecticut antiquarian George Dudley Seymour, who purchased the homestead in 1914 and began a program of restoration and furnishing that is largely preserved today.

About Connecticut Landmarks

Founded in 1936 as the Antiquarian & Landmarks Society, Connecticut Landmarks is the largest statewide heritage museum organization in Connecticut. The historic landmark properties span four centuries of Connecticut history and include: the Amasa Day House, Moodus; the Amos Bull House, Hartford; the Bellamy-Ferriday House & Garden, Bethlehem; the Butler-McCook House & Garden and Main Street History Center, Hartford; the Buttolph-Williams House, Wethersfield; the Hempsted Houses, New London; the Isham-Terry House, Hartford; the Nathan Hale Homestead, Coventry; the Phelps-Hatheway House & Garden, Suffield.

Connecticut Landmark's mission is to inspire appreciation for the Connecticut experience by preserving, presenting and promoting outstanding historic properties, collections and stories. For more information, please visit www.ctlandmarks.org.

#####

-More-